

11 BABYMOON GETAWAYS

From quaint bed and breakfast hotels to luxury resorts, check out our favourite romantic destinations for parents-to-be

Congrats, you're pregnant! Before your little one comes along, why not take one last hurrah with your partner by going on a babymoon? According to the Government of Canada, the safest time to travel while pregnant is during the second trimester, between 18 and 24 weeks. Consult with your health care provider for the A-OK, and you're good to go! From quaint bed and breakfast hotels to luxury resorts, these are the places that offer packages and accommodations that are perfectly suited for expectant couples. Whether your idea of relaxation translates to lounging on the beach, getting pampered with a spa treatment or simply enjoying a meal from the comfort of your hotel room, you are sure to find a babymoon that appeals to you and your other half.

...

Casa Velas, Puerto Vallarta, Mexico

This preferred Mexican resort offers luxury accommodations comprising of gorgeous garden views and a private immersion pool, in addition to a relaxing facial, leg and foot massage, nutritional menu and breakfast in bed. Fun extras include a book of baby names, a couple's photo shoot that includes 20 photos and a delicious dessert in your room each night.

<http://www.babypost.com/parents/family-travel/11-babymoon-getaways?slide=10>